General Dynamics European Land Systems is a Europe based business unit of General Dynamics Corporation. Headquartered in Madrid, Spain, General Dynamics European Land Systems is led by Alfonso Ramonet. We employ some 1,800 highly skilled and motivated people and we are at home at our sites in Austria, Czech Republic, Germany, Spain and Switzerland. Our products range from wheeled armored and tracked combat vehicles to amphibious bridges and ferry systems, with people all around the world relying on our systems and services.

At the heart of our company are our employees. With their different origins, nationalities and cultures, we are inspired by teamwork and close cooperation across frontiers. We rely on their intimate knowledge of customer requirements and their unique blend of skill and innovation to develop and produce world-class products and services.
